

Defence Pact, Trade Urged Across Pacific

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CP)—Howard Green (P.C. Vancouver, Quebec) urged the Government in the Commons tonight to come out in support of a Pacific defence pact and to inaugurate trade discussions with Australia and New Zealand.

Facing the Pacific as she does, British Columbia is "deeply concerned" with problems in the Pacific area, said Mr. Green during continued debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Reclamation Association In Conference

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 22 (CP)—About 100 delegates and guests, including provincial Cabinet ministers from three provinces, registered as the first annual meeting of the Western Canada Reclamation Association got under way here today.

Highlighting the morning sessions was the report of the president, A. P. Burns, of Medicine Hat, Alta., and an official welcome to delegates by Horace Barrett, president of the Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce.

Here for the meeting of the group, the first since its formation in July, 1947, are prominent business men, irrigation officials and engineers from Montreal to Victoria. However, most of the delegates are from Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Some of the speakers during the sessions will be Dr. J. R. MacNicol, of Toronto, former member of Parliament for Toronto-Davenport, and one of the most enthusiastic supporters of Western irrigation in the Dominion, and Hon. David A. Ure, Alberta's Minister of Agriculture.

Following the president's report during the morning session, delegates also heard a report from the resolutions committee.

Later today, delegates will hear proposals by E. R. McFarland, of Lethbridge, in connection with the Canadian Chamber of Commerce Reclamation Committee; James Cameron of Youngstown, Alta., an association director, on the Federation of Agriculture; and Harold Pope of Moose Jaw, Sask., another association director, on the Federation of Existing Irrigation Agencies.

Roy Marler, of Edmonton, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, and James McFall, of Calgary, secretary of the A.F.A., also will speak.

The report of the nominating committee, election of directors and discussion of new business is slated before today's session concludes.

Mr. Ure will be guest speaker at a banquet tonight to be followed by a reunion at the Lethbridge Flying Club.

Veteran Film Director Sam Wood Dies, Aged 66

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22 (INS)—Death claimed veteran movie director Sam Wood today to complete his fatal "cycle of three" in the movie colony.

Wood, who directed some of the industry's greatest productions, died in hospital today, two hours after he was admitted for treatment of a heart ailment. He was 66.

Quite enough, it was Wood who directed veteran actor Frank Morgan in his last picture, Morgan died Sunday to begin the "cycle of three" deaths which had Hollywood in mourning this week.

Richard Dix, matinee idol of the silent screen era, succumbed to a heart attack last Tuesday.

LONG LINK

Wood's name had become a by-word of picture production in his long association with the movie industry. He "grew up" with films and in the past had directed such

The Philippines, Korea, Australia and New Zealand all were anxious for a Pacific treaty and he felt Canada should take a stand in favor of such a pact.

The province also was vitally interested in matters of trade. Its main industry is lumber, 25 per cent of which must be exported to keep the industry in a position where it could maintain present employment.

The province also had to sell large quantities of canned salmon, apples and other products to other countries. It was concerned with the loss of markets in Australia, New Zealand and the Orient.

He believed recent devaluation of many world currencies may make it harder for British Columbia to sell on former markets. The 10 per cent devaluation of the dollar might give this country an edge over the United States in some areas. But the dollar devaluation compared with a 30 per cent devaluation of the pound.

There already was a committee studying trade between Canada and the United Kingdom. There should be a similar committee studying trade between Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

He suggested that Trade Minister Howe or his deputy go to the Antipodes after the session to see what can be done to increase trade with the Pacific nations.

British Columbia once had hoped for a large trade with China, but he was afraid there is a real danger of trade with that country being cut off for many years. The Communists had over-run large parts of China and were threatening Hongkong.

Hongkong was the port through which trade reached China. It was essential that Hongkong remain in British hands.

Mr. Green said British Columbia is interested in shipbuilding. The industry had built many ships during the war, but now its work was mainly limited to repairs. He suggested the construction of fast, modern merchant ships should be undertaken.

Canada, he added, should have a Canadian coast guard on both coasts. It was humiliating, time after time, to have to call on the United States Coast Guard to go to the rescue of Canadian ships in distress.

Noted Actress' Daughter Dies

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (INS)—Mary MacArthur, 19, daughter of actress Helen Hayes and playwright Charles MacArthur, died tonight in a New York hospital.

Miss MacArthur, in the hospital for nine days, was being treated for a "general virus infection." Her birth caused the cancellation of her mother's starring vehicle "Coquette" 20 years ago. Actors' Equity said for two weeks' dismissal pay for the cast, but Producer Jed Harris refused on the ground that the child's birth was an "act of God." Later, however, he paid.

Farm Boy Falls, Father Suffers

ALBERT LEA, Minn., Sept. 22 (INS)—Here's an accident for the books. A Conger, Minn., farm boy fell out of a tree where he was gathering apples and broke his father's neck.

The father, Henry Drescher, 55, was reported recovering today in Naevs Hospital in Albert Lea.

Vatican Silent On Report Of Discovery

ROME, Sept. 22 (AP)—An American archbishop's word that "the remains of St. Peter's body have been found" stirred Rome today.

Most Rev. Joseph P. Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans, made the statement just before sailing aboard the liner Queen Mary from Southampton for New York.

But Vatican officials remained silent as the tomb which Pope Pius already has said "is and was" the place where the Prince of Apostles was laid to rest.

A Vatican press office spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny that the remains had been found.

All who have been and are working on the excavations under St. Peter's Basilica have been sworn to secrecy by the Pope, the spokesman said.

Tax People Miss Boat; Want Replay

Appeal Court yesterday reserved judgment on an application of the Dominion Department of National Revenue to reverse a Vancouver Supreme Court order that told the trustee in a bankruptcy case to divide $4,500 among ordinary creditors.

The income tax department said that some $23,000 in back income tax owed by the bankrupt Parke Fashion Tailors should have been paid first.

HAD SAME CHOICE

D. S. Montgomery, lawyer for the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, trustees in the bankruptcy, who are now sued by the tax department, said the department had the same choice as all other creditors to appear at hearings but had not sought to prove their claim until after the order to distribute the cash among other creditors had been made.

He agreed that "all things being equal, the Crown comes first," but objected that they did not have the right to be placed in a position above the rights of other creditors. "They act as if all these proceedings are beneath them," he said.

Magistrate Postpones Judgment In Trial of Lottery Operator

Judgment in the case of Frank Hillen who pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a lottery was postponed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall yesterday.

The magistrate said he would like answers to several questions from Defence Counsel Joseph McKenna. The magistrate wanted to know

Two Storms Show Signs Of Lessening

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22 (INS)—Two tropical storms—one in the Gulf of Mexico and the other over the Dominican Republic—showed signs of abating tonight.

Reconnaissance planes reported the Gulf storm had not increased in intensity and thousands of residents along the Gulf Coast heaved a sigh of relief.

However, weather bureau reports said the storm "may still increase in intensity" and warned the Texas Coast to prepare for squalls up to 50 miles an hour.

Hurricane warnings were displaced by northwest storm warnings along the Texas Coast from Port O'Connor to Freeport.

At the same time, the weather bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, announced that the Caribbean hurricane that struck the Dominican Republic today was reported breaking up over the eastern portion of the island.

The weather bureau said that the centre of the Caribbean hurricane could not be located this morning, indicating an abatement of the storm.

SINK BOAT

An inboard motor was stolen from a boat owned by H. M. Sutherland, 1370 Pandora Avenue, Oak Bay police reported to city police yesterday.

The boat was reported missing last Thursday, but was found later sunk in Spoon Bay with the motor missing.

Courtesy Will Pay Dividends; Plan Cash Awards to Drivers

Drivers of Greater Victoria will soon find that courtesy pays dividends—in more ways than one. Officials of the recently-organized Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council yesterday announced that cash prizes would be awarded weekly to drivers who distinguish themselves as showing a notable courtesy toward fellow drivers or pedestrians while operating their cars in the area.

Police forces of Victoria and the adjacent municipalities are to be asked to co-operate with the traffic safety council by providing licence numbers, or names, of drivers showing "good manners" on the roads and highways.

PLAN DRIVING RANGE

Lease of city-owned property on George Road at the foot of Carroll Street was requested yesterday by B. Price, 2950 Earl Grey.

Mr. Price said he hoped to be able to lease the property from the city for the establishment of a golf driving course. He declared such a course would prove to be a tourist attraction for the city.

The city owns some two acres of land on George Road in the vicinity of Carroll Street.

ENJOY CONCERT

Patients and their visitors at the Veterans' Hospital were treated to another R.C.N. band concert on the hospital lawn Wednesday.

It was one of several concerts given throughout the summer months by the R.C.N. band from H.M.C.S. Naden under conductor C.P.O. E. J. Michaux.

VISITOR FROM AFAR

Among the many visiting guests attending the Rotary Club's luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel yesterday was William Perel, of Stellenbosch, South Africa, about 30 miles from Cape Town.

It is Mr. Stellenbosch's first visit to Canada, and he likes what little he has seen of Victoria so far. His trip to this country, he explained, is a combined holiday and business trip. He heads a large builders' supply firm of South Africa. From here he will proceed to Vancouver.

IRISH MEET

A group of Irish-born Victorians, meeting at 815 North Park Street recently, decided to form an Irish Protestant Association.

Purpose of the association is to preserve the love for Irish music, poetry and literature and provide a common meeting-ground for Irish people.

City Man, Son Awarded $7,544 As Damages in Truck Accident

A Victoria man and his son were awarded a total of $7,544 in Supreme Court yesterday for damages resulting from an October 10 accident when their truck was struck by an Island Freight Services truck.

In a judgment handed down yesterday, Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane ordered the company to pay George Maltby, 1021 Cook Street, $5,530.15, and his son, Robert, $1,914.

Patrick J. Sinnott, lawyer for the Maltbys, succeeded in almost doubling the sum the insurance firm for the car had agreed to pay before the trial, to cover damages.

In the four-day trial that ended last April 12, H. W. Davey, K.C., lawyer for the insurance company, admitted liability for the accident, but sought to prove that no lasting injuries had been inflicted on either of the Maltbys.

The trial was marked by a welter of contradictory medical evidence on whether or not the injuries suffered by the pair would be permanent.

Biggest dispute in the trial had centred around George Maltby's nose. Mr. Davey claimed that the nose had been injured in an earlier accident, but the judge agreed with Mr. Sinnott that the nose had also been badly bent in the October 10 accident at the intersection of Craigflower Road and the Island Highway.

GENERAL DAMAGES

Mr. Justice Macfarlane also granted Mr. Sinnott's claim that his clients should be awarded general damages for their loss of profits and earning power occasioned by the accident.

In granting general damages to George Maltby, Mr. Justice Macfarlane took into consideration the extent of his injuries as well as his loss of profit as a pipe-fitter and race horse owner and trainer.

No claim for damages was entered for a race horse in the back of the Maltby truck that was also injured in the accident.

LIST INJURIES

Injuries suffered by Robert Maltby included the fracture of a small but important bone in his wrist. George Maltby, who was driving the truck, suffered finger and toe injuries as well as the injury to his nose and Mr. Sinnott told the court the accident had turned his client's hair white almost overnight.

Property Owners Seek Arena Dedication Programs

Victoria property owners came in a steady stream all day yesterday to ticket office of their Memorial Arena to pick up admittance programs for the arena dedication ceremony Sunday. Attendance at ceremony is being restricted mainly to property-owners. In picture above, Frank Schroeder, 536 Dallas Road, is shown inside ticket office issuing admittance program to W. H. Harris, 2318 Douglas Street. R. X. Chisholm, 1029 Queens Avenue, stands behind Mr. Harris waiting to receive program.

Impressive Dedication Service Sunday Will Mark Official Opening of Arena

The memorial plaque in the foyer of Victoria's Memorial Arena will be unveiled during the dedication ceremony on Sunday by three wounded World War veterans selected by the Canadian Legion.

The black velvet drapes which are to cover the plaque will be drawn aside by M. L. A. Thompson, former flight sergeant in the R.C.A.F., supported by two other injured war veterans, T. H. Manifold, ex-chief engine-room artificer, R.C.N., and C. F. Lawrence, former captain of the P.P.C.L.I.

Sounding of the Last Post by Bandsman R. Harbridge and Bandsman D. Fisher, both of the R.C.N., will follow the unveiling.

OBSERVE SILENCE

Two minutes silence will be observed in memory of the war dead and Reville then will be sounded.

Details of the Memorial Arena dedication ceremony, which will begin at 3 Sunday, were disclosed yesterday by Mayor George.

The program will be opened with the singing of "O Canada." This will be followed by an address by Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the City Council's arena committee. Alderman Williams will explain the purposes of the ceremony.

Following the address, the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," will be sung. P.L. R. P. Condon, group chaplain, No. 12 Group, R.C.A.F., then will give a Scripture reading.

DEDICATION ADDRESS

CITY'S RECORD ENVIABLE FOR MODERATE FIRE LOSS

Victoria has an enviable record as an area of moderate losses due to fire, according to local insurance men.

The comparatively moderate fire damage here was pointed up recently when the fire insurance rates for homes and contents were reduced ten per cent throughout British Columbia.

FAVORABLE RATIO

"This definitely shows a favorable ratio of fire loss to property insured," it was pointed out.

But in some other items, the local record is not so good, the same observers admitted.

For instance insurance premiums on plate-glass windows has been boosted "about 30 per cent" in the past six months, they reported.

In some cases the boost has been even greater the report shows.

"The rate varies with different companies," insurance men state. "Some establishments in this area have had particularly bad experiences with plate glass—they are just naturally bad risks."

CAR RATE ZOOMS

Also mounting rapidly is the rate on car insurance which zoomed 25 per cent on July 1, this year.

It is emphasized that the increase was on collision coverage, not public liability.

Experts blame the rapidly rising cost of car insurance on the "vulnerability" of the modern vehicle.

Royal Canadian Navy will follow the Scripture reading.

Hon. Capt. G. D. Kendall, chaplain for the Department of Veterans' Affairs Hospital, will offer a prayer of dedication.

Unveiling of the memorial plaque in the arena foyer will take place at this point. By means of a public address system the unveiling ceremony will be described to the assembly which will remain in the arena proper.

TO PLACE WREATHS

Eleven wreaths will be placed below the plaque by Lieutenant-Governor Charles Banks; Mrs. Rachel Williams, representing war-bereaved mothers; Rev. W. R. Ashford, vice-president, Victoria Ministerial Association; Premier Byron I. Johnson; Mayor Percy George; Commander J. C. I. Edwards, C.V.E., R.C.N., senior naval officer, H.M.C.S. Naden; Lt. Col. A. Perron, E.D., commander, Victoria and Esquimalt Garrison; Group Captain J. A. Easton, O.B.E., R.C.A.F. Group Commander, 12 Group Headquarters; Major Carl Pallas, Victoria Zone Commander, Canadian Legion; Mrs. G. B. Elliott, 2nd vice-regent, Municipal Chapter, I.O.E.; Paul Meyer, United States Consul to Victoria.

After the wreaths have been placed at the base of the plaque, the official party will resume its places in the arena proper and Alderman Williams will introduce Mayor George. The mayor will then make a brief address as he turns over the keys of the arena to the Memorial Arena Commission.

Admittance programs will still be available to Victoria property owners at Memorial Arena ticket offices today and tomorrow.

Liquor Sale Brings Fine

Gin Lee, 538 Flagard Street, was fined $300 in city police court yesterday after he pleaded guilty through counsel to a charge of selling liquor.

Sgt. Thomas Banister testified that the accused had sold a bottle of rye to a constable for $6. Later he said police had searched the premises and found a quantity of whisky, rum and nine bottles of wine.

Peter Feschuk was remanded for trial until September 26 when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of attempting to steal a car belonging to John A. Wightman.

Contract for 100 Houses In City Let by C.M.H.C.

Contract for the construction of 100 additional wartime housing units in Victoria has been awarded to the Commonwealth Construction Co., Ltd., city officials were advised yesterday by J. L. Adams, regional construction engineer of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The Vancouver construction company, which has offices in Victoria, submitted a bid of $542,157 for the job.

Previously the city had entered into agreements with C.M.H.C. for the construction of 500 housing units in the city. Most of these units are located in the northeast section of the city. Others were built in the James Bay, Burnside and Foul Bay areas. Housing Enterprises several years ago built 102 housing units in the vicinity of Tolmie Avenue.

early start" is expected on the construction of the new housing units.

They cited one possible combination which would include the 1939-45 Star, the African Star, the Italy Star, the France-Germany Star, the Pacific Star, the Defence Medal, the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, the War Medal, a clasp signifying entitlement to Atlantic Star and an Oak Leaf for having been mentioned in dispatches. This same individual would be entitled to a figure "1" or "3" to signify service with either the 1st or 8th Army in North Africa.

POSSIBLE COMBINATION

Because of this large number of possible combinations a special booklet is being sent out to each veteran explaining the method and order of wearing for all decorations.

RAREST DECORATION

The rarest decoration of the Canadian forces is the Burma Star. Only 5,200 of these will be distributed by Canada, with the majority of the recipients members of the R.C.A.F. who served in that theatre.

Officers in charge of distribution of the 11 stars and medals, along with the several clasps which may be earned, offers a possible 400 combinations of awards. This compares with only five possible combinations in the Great War when only four provision has been made for men and women to attend the ceremony who are not property owners in Victoria, but nevertheless reside in the city and suffered the loss of a member of their immediate family in the World War. These persons may secure an admittance program on application to any branch of the Canadian Legion either today or Saturday.

Admittance programs will still be available to Victoria property owners at Memorial Arena ticket offices today and tomorrow.

COURT ORDERS Two to Pay

H. Arthur and Walter S. Moore were ordered to each pay half of a $207 judgment awarded to McLennan, McFeely Prior Ltd. 1400 Government Street, in County Court yesterday.

Judge H. H. Shandley first awarded the claim for payment of goods against Mr. Arthur, then in a later development ordered Mr. Moore, a third party, to pay half of the judgment.

Swift's COLUMN

Have you ever wondered why some women always turn out wonderful baking? Their pies are always flaky-tender, their cakes always so light they float off the plate. Probably you put it down to "knack."

That "knack" everyone envies may be instinct, but I'll wager you'll find most successful cooks watch their measurements to the 1/8 degree! For instance, use standard measuring cups and spoons—and level, please, if level is called for. And there's a big difference between double-acting and single-acting baking powder. Be sure always to use the one called for in the recipe.

Sift flour once before measuring, and do not press it into cup, or tap it down. Level it off with spatula. But pack brown sugar down tightly when measuring. It should hold its shape when it's turned out.

All these points are important—but none more so than using the right kind of shortening! Try Swift's—it's so quick-mixing, so easy to use in all your baking. You'll bake everything quicker, easier, and better when you use Swift's! It's digestible and nutritious, too.

FREE Queen's of Cooking Recipe Book! 76 tested recipes, beautiful food pictures, big, clear type. A book you'll want right away! For your free copy, send name, address, one Swift'sing box top, to: Martha Logan, Dept. OA 130, Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Toronto 8, Ontario.

Transport Commission Tempers the Wind

PROOF that railway deficits are not going to be laid on the public regardless of its capacity to stay in business under each fresh imposition can be seen in the announcement yesterday by the Board of Transport Commissioners. The Board was big enough to make the admission that the 21 per cent freight rates boost allowed last year should, on subsequent evidence, have been 15 per cent; and to scale the current interim application of the railways for another boost down to 8 per cent, together with some revision in coal and coke-carrying rates.

Had the seven Provinces—all then in the Union-saving Ontario and Quebec—not fought the case, the railways might have ended up with a 41 per cent increase in Canadian freight rates in one year. As the additional 8 per cent now granted will cost British Columbia shippers alone $5,600,000—or about twice the value of the removed mountain differential—and some $30,000,- 000 across Canada, there need be little guesswork about what a straight 41 per cent increase would have meant.

With the Board's observation that Canadian railways must be given some means of meeting rising costs in difficult times there can be agreement without sacrificing the first obligation of every business—which is that the place to attack costs is at the point they arise. Not excepting the railways, it has become entirely too easy to throw deficits on the public by declaring a loss and having some agency in authority hand over another slice out of the public's worn pocket. That obviously is not a final solution of the 20-year-old railway problem in Canada; as an examination of C.N.R. Government-backed issues on any bond list will demonstrate.

Meanwhile the Provinces have been given some encouragement in asking that a more genuine and workable solution be found in what is admittedly a difficult matter.

Mr. Duplessis Presents a Poser

THE piquancy of Premier Duplessis' announcement that his government will promote a provincial lottery lies in the fact that prosecution of such violation of the Federal Criminal Code is in provincial hands. Mr. Duplessis is Attorney-General of Quebec as well as Premier, and if he disregarded the serious anomaly of such action he could break the code and prevent its application at one and the same time. It requires no imagination to picture the farcical nature of affairs that would result.

Rather than open defiance of a national statute, however, Mr. Duplessis may aim at forcing Federal authorities to review the provisions of the Criminal Code. These are at present flouted in many cases in connection with the ban on lotteries. A change in viewpoint has also arisen with regard to the moral aspect, and some doubt as to the splitting of ethics into degrees so that a fifty-dollar lottery is respectable while one of five hundred dollars is criminal. Some sincere people also believe that state-lotteries wisely conducted could divert to purposes for the common weal money at present passing into less reputable coffers.

Certainly the operation of a state lottery in one province while its contrariness to the law barred it in all others would soon bring matters to a head. The impulse to gamble is a human one, recognized to its advantage by the state in the realm of horse racing. As with the consumption of liquor, it may be that government control provides the best answer to the present confusion that attends the lottery question. Mr. Duplessis' proposed legislation will at all events present a poser out of which may come needed clarification of a controversial issue.

Labor Congress Demands Loyalty to Crown

GIVEN the short title of an "oath of allegiance to the Crown," the resolution passed by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at the convention in Calgary goes a good deal farther than the customary pledge of faithfulness to the King. Beyond that, it requires of members accepting nomination for office in the congress an avowal that they are not associated with any movement inimical to the existing form of government on this continent.

Thus the congress of its own volition has done what trades union leaders in the United States have been compelled to do by statute. The result may be the same, but the manner in which it is to be reached in Canada is more likely to promote better feeling throughout the Dominion towards a powerful labor organization than could have been achieved by an Act of Parliament or of a provincial legislature. Oaths under legal compulsion have not the same significance as those accepted voluntarily.

The pledge to be required of office-seekers in the congress avoids any specific reference to Communism, but its meaning is none the less clear. The fact that the resolution calling for it was resisted by a substantial number of delegates bears evidence of the need for some such measure to aid loyal members in their attempt to rid the congress of disruptive elements. Some of the opposition seems to have been due to misunderstanding of the intent of the oath, as in the case of the delegate who misinterpreted it as a curb on criticism of the government of the day, rather than a means of safeguarding the principles under which this country is governed.

There was enough in the discussion, however, to show that the resolution was recognized in its proper light by those against whom it is directed, and in their attempts to defeat it they disclosed their hands. All in all, the action of the congress appears timely.

STUDENTS' ADMISSION

Sir,—Would it not be possible to set aside some sections of seats for the hockey games that could be obtained by holders of student cards for the nominal price of fifty cents?

It seems a pity that in a city which has always excelled in the fostering of sports among the young people, some of these will be unable to see any hockey games due to the large admission fees.

AT THE "FOUNTAIN"

Sir,—With reference to the Fountain intersection street plan published in your September 18 issue, and which is virtually the plan submitted by myself last February, the suggested centre island in the plan submitted by me is smaller and well highlighted. Stop signs with "no left-hand turns" were provided, so that there would be no "central circus to become a mad melee." The traffic stream being regulated in circular track would be more efficient and therefore must of necessity be an improvement on the free-for-all dangerous condition at present in vogue; neither so costly nor cumbersome as expensive 15-traffic-light plan with its road area curtailed by concrete obstructions as shown on the highways plan submitted last January. One of the chief recommendations of a circus is that they are in operation in large cities, and lastly that the Fountain intersection with very little modification is virtually laid out for one.

BUS FRANCHISE

Sir,—I take this opportunity to thank you for the splendid efforts The Colonist have undertaken in the past on behalf of the transit users. My own interest in this matter centres around a statement made to me by a bus driver three years ago. I quote: "That if the B.C. Electric Railway Company obtained the franchise, people in Victoria would in twelve months be paying a straight ten-cent fare with no weekly pass."

If this is true and it was the preconceived intention of the company to charge a ten-cent fare, then the franchise was obtained under a misconception, and answers the question in your editorial "What Do the Companies Want?" and explains the present hush-hush about the matter. It may also account for the B.C. Electric's complete lack of interest in transportation in 1937, and the later interest revived sufficiently to purchase the Blue Line Company.

It is up to the citizens of Victoria themselves who granted the franchise, and are already paying 15 cents for a return journey to town and back, to prevent the B.C. Electric Railway Company from periodically demanding more until they attain the objective as already obtained in Vancouver.

A Fancy From Fontenelle

The Rose in the garden slipped her bud,
And she laughed in the pride of her youthful blood.

As she thought of the Gardener standing by—
"He is old—so old! And he soon must die!"

The full Rose waxed in the warm June air,
And she spread and spread till her heart lay bare;
And she laughed once more as she heard his tread—
"He is older now! He will soon be dead!"

But the breeze of the morning blew, and found
That the leaves of the blown Rose strewn the ground;

And he came at noon, that Gardener old,
And he raked them gently under the mould.

And I wove the thing to a random rhyme,
For the Rose is Beauty, the Gardener, Time.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."
By TOM TAYLOR

I GOT a new angle on the chain of responsibility the other night. Effects have their causes, but the thing to do apparently is to go back at least three places.

To demonstrate.

It was a radio commentator who opened my eyes. He was reciting in breathless tones—I began to pant myself from sheer excitement—the dramatic story of the man who made Joe Louis. That was a chap named Jack Blackburn, a former fighter himself, as you will know if you are a fight fan.

If there had been no Jack Blackburn there would have been no Joe Louis. That was the theory—but that was only the half of it.

It seems there was a man named—well, it sounded something like Gum, although it may have been something else, I grant you. He was a songwriter but he was a bit of a pugilist, too. And he was the man who made Jack Blackburn. See the point?

If it hadn't been for this song writer Joe Louis never would have visited the Armoury a few years back.

But who was the man behind Mr. Gum? That's what has been worrying me ever since. Somebody must have put the spur to him, too.

Another kind of spur has done its work effectively, I'm glad to note. B.C.E.R. buses are to label their anonymous backs. This in concession to those who've been peeved because they could not tell what bus was up ahead.

Since I've harped a bit on this handicap myself I'm happy to say three cheers.

'Tis true the company hasn't gone the length of putting a nameplate on the back similar to that on the front of the bus, but half a loaf is better than no bread at all, I guess. As the company puts it, a rear identification number should add to the convenience of transit riders.

That it will. All you have to do now is to remember your route number and cast your eye below the rear curb-side window. 'Tis true again that what with telephone numbers, car numbers, street numbers, etc., a man's got to be a whiz at figures nowadays to get along, but . . .

Anyway, so far as I am personally concerned, this numerical label will save my poor legs. I'm fairly run down with running up, often to no purpose, just in case the bus in front is mine. Or, more properly, the one I want.

I've been thinking maybe it's high time Juan de Fuca had a look-in in this channel swimming business. The Strait of Dover—actually, you know, these-lads and lassies are not "crawling" the English Channel at all—is demode.

Five times this year alone—three times in a single 24-hour period, indeed—this stretch of cold, choppy water has been conquered by mere man. That should end the fashion. Somebody should direct nautical eyes to new liquid pastures.

From here to Port Angeles, for example.

De Fuca should be even more enticing than Dover—it's two miles shorter, eighteen against twenty. That should count for something.

Of course, it's probably a bit chillier a few miles out from Victoria than a few miles out from Cap Gris Nez, but two extra coats of grease should take care of that small discrepancy.

Look at the tourist dollars that would flow into local coffers if Rose Bay became a channel swimming base. Doesn't that aspect touch a familiar chord?

If Eric Linklater could drop in unannounced at the Armoury a week tomorrow night he'd have additional ammunition to fire at the British War Office.

Linklater, Orkney author, M.A., one-time Black Watch private and Royal Engineers major, has been launching critical broadsides at Whitehall brass hats for cross-posting officers and men from one regiment to another. This, he says, and says truly, will "rust and ruin" the traditions that are the backbone of the army.

It's the family feeling, the esprit-de-corps, that gives a regiment an associate strength greater than its fire power, as he aptly describes it. Lacking this pride of unit, a regiment is merely a collection of men tossed together without binding cement.

And when the chips are down it's pride that counts.

This will be evident when the Canadian Scottish gather in the Armoury for their annual reunion dinner—all ranks, past and present, all battalions. Their war days are over, I hope, but they have a common kinship that will last them the rest of their lives—perhaps the most precious thing they'll ever know.

That stems from regimental tradition, about which Canadian brass hats as well as British have at times seemed querulously deficient.

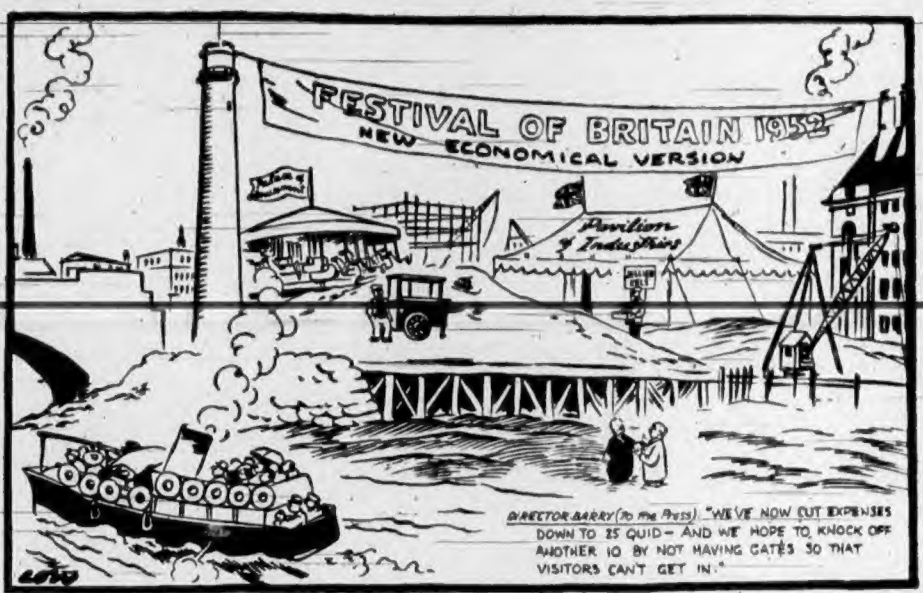

A rose might smell as sweet if it were called a daffodil, but a Canadian Scot or a B.C. Dragoon is twice as good a man just because he knows he's a Canadian Scot or a B.C. Dragoon.

This regimental feeling, in fact, is the stuff that makes the troops.

Supermen, Moscow Style

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service

NEW YORK—Two questions which have caused us some tossing at night of late are 1. Why does anyone want to swim the English Channel?

2. How can any Channel swimmer expect to come close to the great swimming records established by the Russians?

In view of the recent devaluation of the pound, interest in swimming away from England for France might have been stimulated in those Britons who were eager to change their quid into francs. But the strange truth of the matter is that most of the Channel tries were made from the French side, and aimed at the white cliffs.

As for question No. 2, my friend Caswell Adams sends me a recent issue of "U.S.S.R.," a slick-paper magazine published by the Soviet Embassy in Washington. At the risk of being dragged into a plagiarism suit in Moscow, I'd like to quote from an article headed "World, U.S.S.R. Records Are Shattered as Soviet Athletes End Season."

It starts out, "Battling high waves and a heavy storm on the Volga, four Soviet long-distance swimmers, including one woman contestant, late in July traversed a 180-kilometer (93.2 miles) course on the river near Kuibyshev."

"The storm came up as the race was about to start. The swimmers, all amateur athletes, decided to hold the contest nevertheless, and all completed the swim."

"P. A. Kosyrev, a fitter at the machine-tool shop of a Baku shipyard, climbed from the water first with a time of 27 hours 59 minutes for the course. V. Proskurkin was second; the woman swimmer, L. Viorova, third; and I. Faisullin, fourth."

A Kosyrev, swimming at the same speed, could have crossed the English Channel (18 miles) in about five hours—three times as fast as Gertrude Ederle did it. Or, he could have swum across, made a racing turn off a Dover cliff and swum back to France, kicked off again and swum back to the cliff, and made another complete round trip in about the time it has taken this year's best non-Iron Curtain swimmers to make it once across.

We'd sure like to see A. Kosyrev in action. The story neglects to mention it, but the chances are that he might have dragged a submerged Schnorkel submarine with him, by means of a cable held in his teeth. Maybe he'll do this the next time, for nothing is impossible when the Russians are holding the stop-watches and the hostile spies from the foreign press are barred.

The same magazine notes that most of the world and Olympic records in track and field fell by the wayside during a Moscow meet during the Summer.

They included a new javelin mark for women (Natalia Smirnitkaya of Leningrad apparently threw the spear from Moscow to Omsk or Minsk); Timofei Luney bowled over the American-held mark for the 200-meter hurdles—"in jig time," the magazine reports—and Soviet weight-lifters succeeded in lifting themselves by their boot straps, a new record.

There is one oddity in the report, which was written by B. Sokolov, "Master of Sports." Seems that "Alexander Kanaki, at the same meet, fell only 1.16 metres short of the world record in hammer throwing when he bettered his own record with a distance of 57.88 metres."

Perhaps something went wrong with the sickle he was also throwing. B. Sokolov leaves us in the dark as to what disposition was made of the saboteur.

It's a pity the Politburo didn't let these fellows appear at the London Olympics, where the stop-watches and yard-sticks were neutral.

If you haven't been reading the papers closely in recent months you're just not hep to what the Russians have been doing behind their corrugated wall.

They've claimed the invention of the airplane, A-bomb, electric light, telephone and two dozen other products of American inventiveness. Their Wriklaski brothers flew 28 years before ours did. They had lights, power, phonographs and several hundred other appliances while Tom Edison was still a butcher-boy. By a curious coincidence, no traveler to Russia ever reported on these wonders.

Which just goes to prove how blind are those who take suitcase and visa in hand. We are grateful for the words of B. Sokolov, "Master of Sports," and are making the necessary changes in Frank Menke's All Sports Record Book. . . . In disappearing ink.

Box of Tricks

(From The Times, London)

FEW forms of printed matter are so profusely illustrated as the lush literature of holidays, and few kinds illustrate so well the camera's capacity, hot of course for lying, but for prettily decorating the facts. Consider, for instance, the guide books, which are as full of pictures as grand-mother's drawing-room.

The illustrations, whether grandly scenic or frankly commercial, are always a little lofter than life. The village street is unscarred by petrol pump or hoarding, and a camouflage net of foliage conceals the tin garage. The sands are cleansed, the cliffs embossed, the river purified by the redeeming touch of the photographer.

The three-ply facade of the hotel annex, in the advertisements, takes on a rugged grandeur, the boarding-house garden is unbelievably elongated, and "a corner of the lounge" suggests that the whole must be a vast apartment of cathedral-like vistas.

It seems clear that man, in his obstinate efforts to fashion a work of art out of this imperfect life, has found a complaisant ally. Or if man has not, the councillors and hotel-keepers and ratepayers of the show places of this England have.

The qualification is, unhappily, necessary, for when the holiday-maker, already a little disillusioned, collects from the chemist the developed harvest of his own photographic exercises, he discovers that the ally has deserted to the enemy.

His snapshots, like the masterpieces of the professionals, refuse to walk the narrow plank of truth, but they fall into grotesque instead of picturesque exaggerations. His views—to borrow the Archbishop of Canterbury's description of certain views of the political scene—are curiously "insensitive to the true facts of the situation."

His sunsets are amudges, his hills and valleys disappointingly plain, and only the hands and feet of his human subjects are larger than life.

He realizes anew that when the moralists point out how scientific achievement has outstripped man's capacity for making a wise use of it, they are thinking of him.

There's a food value in dates—if you know who to make them with.

FLORINS

The florin, a quite incomprehensible English coin, has just had its 100th birthday and the occasion has called forth an explanation from the experts of just why this island has one coin (the florin) worth 40 cents, and another only a shade bigger (the half-crown) worth 50 cents, before devaluation.

It appears that the florin, when it was introduced in August, 1849, was intended to be the start of a decimal system—10 florins equals one pound. The only trouble was, nobody thought of making 10 pence, instead of 12, equal one shilling, so decimal currency died still-born and the movement resulted only in the addition of a new and redundant coin to the currency, to the utter confusion of visitors.

Observation

Car: By G. B.

A SOOKE lady had a practical example of inflation when she interviewed three boys in an effort to get some wood chopped and gardening done. Each of the lads declined to work for less than 90c an hour. . . .

Both by propaganda and subtle inference, hunters, campers and fishermen are blamed for starting many a forest fire throughout the province. Some are started by lightning, and many others break out on property under the control of logging companies. There should be a searching investigation after every fire, and if carelessness were shown, prosecutions and heavy fines could follow. A few such cases given wide publicity would prove a powerful deterrent. . . .

The proposed increase in hospital insurance rates, 3 per cent sales tax, higher taxes and increased assessment values on city property, and devaluation of the Canadian dollar all helped to boost the cost of living and add fuel to inflation. Those responsible for the impositions are well aware of the facts. . . . There are more persons ready to turn down ideas than there are others to think them up. . . . From a Fort Street reader: "Why increase radio licence fees? At 9 a.m. last Sunday a broadcast from London, England, via CBR mentioned that Sir Stafford Cripps would make an important broadcast to the world at 20:00 hours G.M.T. We naturally tuned in to CBR at 2 p.m., but heard a musical program. We had to twist the dial to KOMO, Seattle, for the pound devaluation information. What do we pay for?" . . . Whoever inherits the earth will have enough expenses to keep them meek indefinitely.

Anti-Submarine Role Set for R.C.N., Allies to Provide Vessels, Research

This is the fourth of a series in which a Canadian Press military writer sums up the defence situation in Canada. In today's article he deals with the Royal Canadian Navy.

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CPI).—The Canadian Navy is beginning to look into the far North but the main concern remains familiar enemies—the North Atlantic and the submarines that can lurk beneath it.

The Navy's chief, Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant has said:

"Naval policy is based on the assumption that our principal role in war would be the protection of shipping from submarines, mining and air attack and that the maximum possible protection should be available without notice."

It remains an anti-submarine navy and its advanced training, both in the new Air Arm and in the surface ships, chiefly points in that direction. The background lies in the knowledge that Russia has four times as many submarines as Germany had in 1939 and that developments are such that in any new war effort fleets would have to be twice as large and twice as fast as they were in the last one.

NO SUBMARINES

To prepare itself, the Navy has no subs and relies on the British and American fleets for them. It hasn't got the facilities to do the research necessary to cope with sub developments and relies on her Allies for that, too. Its manpower isn't sufficient, informed quarters say, to permit full concentration on both anti-sub and recruit training and it may be in danger of falling between the two.

The Navy was the first of the three services to recruit to authorized postwar strength—9,050—and it is quite rightly described as the one regular service capable of doing a fair-sized combat job on an immediate basis.

NOT VERY EFFECTIVE

With the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier Magnificent, two destroyers, three frigates and two minesweepers active on the East Coast, the 8,000-ton cruiser Ontario, two destroyers, two frigates and two minesweepers active on the West Coast, it could put up an immediate combat force. But, informed quarters say, it "would not be particularly effective and most of everything else the Navy is doing would be scrapped."

Within the service itself, there is a feeling that the Navy now is of a size that makes it neither a real navy nor a toy navy such as Canada

Plan Classes In Fitness During Winter

The 1949-50 Winter season of the Physical Fitness classes conducted by the Pro-Fit Branch of the Department of Education will get under way during the week of October 3 with the opening of a number of classes in Victoria and district.

These Government-sponsored classes are free to the public, excepting a small registration fee, and have been organized in order to supply healthful recreation, and to improve the standard of physical fitness in the Province.

During last Winter more than 1,300 men, women and children participated in the various activities conducted by Pro-Fit instructors in Victoria and district, and with new centres opening and new activities lined up for the Winter, an even greater enrollment is anticipated.

Advertisements covering activities as well as opening dates of all centres, will appear in The Daily Colonist.

INDIANS OPERATE SAW-MILLS

As a practical step toward better Indian housing the Indian Affairs Branch has established saw-mills at various points. This enables the Indian homemaker to bring in his logs for the Indian lumbermen to mill while Indian labor mixes the cement and builds the foundation. Only those necessities not within reach—window panes, asbestos, shingles, insulation, etc.—are paid for out of public funds.

U.N. Has No Evidence Red China Not Wanted

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Dr. Tsiang of Nationalist China has called on the United Nations to do something about Communist subjugation of his country, but he doesn't say what.

His opening address sums up the request for specific action. But whether it will be placed before the Security Council or the General Assembly, and what form it will take, remains to be seen.

JUST PROPAGANDA

If he asks condemnation of Russia and the Chinese Communists it's just a propaganda fight. The Communists hold a big proportion of China and bid fair to take over the rest. The United Nations can't do any more about it than it could about Czechoslovakia. It doesn't even have real evidence that the Communist regime is not desired, or at least passively accepted, by a majority of the Chinese people.

In such circumstances a General Assembly condemnation would, aside from establishing a position of some moral but little practical importance, widen the East-West split in the United Nations. So would a Security Council airing of charges of Russian intervention — if the veto didn't keep the lid on the whole thing.

Appointment of a commission such as the one which has been keeping an eye on the Greek border is possible. It might be Dr. Tsiang's objective. It would serve to keep the issues alive. And it would be an "out" for the United Nations.

Attlee Calls For Parley On Pound Cut

LONDON, Sept. 22 (CPI).—Prime Minister Attlee tonight summoned Parliament to an emergency session next Tuesday for a debate on Britain's economic crisis.

The order went out after a long Cabinet discussion.

An announcement issued from 10 Downing Street said both Houses will debate last Sunday's slash in the sterling exchange rates from $4.83 to $2.80 United States, and the Washington dollar conference of the United States, Britain and Canada that preceded the slash.

50-50 CHANCE

Meantime, the political foothold of Attlee's Labor Government expressed a private opinion the Government stands a 50-50 chance of being forced to call an election this Autumn.

On Britain's industrial front, meanwhile, only about 1,600 of London's 50,000 railroad workers were following the "go slow" orders of their union district council Thursday night, and did not succeed in disrupting traffic or causing major holdups.

Fight to Save Eyesight In Family

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 22 (AP).—Surgeons at the University of Oregon Medical School Eye Clinic believe they are winning a fight to save the last good eye in a family of three.

Mary Hope Hodgdon, 11, is blind in her left eye. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hodgdon, are blind in both eyes.

Clinic surgeons decided last week the sight in the right eye unless something were done. That something was to pierce the eye with a fine electric needle, creating an irritation which in healing would bind the retina to the back of the eye, for the retina threatened to break loose.

Detachment of the retina caused Mrs. Hodgdon's blindness as a child and it cost Mary Hope the sight of her left eye. The father lost his sight in an explosion more than 20 years ago.

Bridges Trial November 14

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (INS).—November 14 was set today as the trial date of the Government's criminal perjury and conspiracy case against Harry Bridges, international president of the C.I.O. Longshoremen's Union.

Federal Judge George B. Harris of San Francisco fixed the November date over the strenuous objections of Bridges' attorneys. They argued unsuccessfully for a trial date some time after January 1.

The Australian-born labor leader was indicted last May on charges that he lied under oath concerning Communist party membership at his 1945 citizenship hearing in San Francisco. Bridges swore that he never had been a member of the Communist party.

KEITH CUTLER
Announcer and tour director for Town Meeting, which will be heard on 20 radio stations across Canada.

Speakers With Varied Backgrounds Will Debate British Socialism Tonight

Four speakers of varied backgrounds will debate British Socialism from opposite sides of the political fence when Town Meeting in Canada records a coast-to-coast broadcast in Victoria High School auditorium at 8 tonight.

Arthur R. Helps, founder and moderator, always hopes for a four-cornered fight, with plenty of side-swinging from the audience. However, the topic "Has Socialism Failed in Britain?" promises to shape up as the next best thing—a stiff two-way tussle.

On Mr. Helps' political Left: Arthur Turner, C.C.F. M.L.A.-elect for Vancouver East, and Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal of Mount View High School.

On his Right: Walter R. Dent, editor of The B.C. Financial Times, and L. W. Makovski, Victoria, noted writer and lecturer.

A past president of the C.C.F. (British Columbia-Yukon section), Arthur Turner has sat in the Legislature since 1940. Since his first election he has devoted himself full-time to representing the people of his constituency.

A present he is acting as C.C.F. House leader in the absence of Harold Winch, leader of the Opposition. Mr. Turner has given particular attention to labor matters, housing problems and publicly-owned auto and fire insurance.

Last year Mr. Turner attended the International Socialist Congress in Vienna, as a delegate from the C.C.F. He also spent several weeks in Britain, studying the current problems of his native land.

L. W. Makovski, journalist, author and lecturer, has written several books, including "Bolshevism as a Destructive Force," 1919; "National Service and Employment," 1948; and "Prices, Principles and Politics," 1948.

ORIGINAL MEMBER
Mr. Makovski was an original member of Town Meeting in Canada. Before he came to Victoria, he was often heard over Radio Station CJOH at Town Meetings. He is a member of the executive of the United Nations Association (Victoria branch) and a former member of the executive of the League of Nations Association in Vancouver.

Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal of Mount View High School, was born in Victoria. He obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Manitoba, majoring in history and economics, and his master's degree in economics at the same university.

GAINED DOCTORATE
He obtained his doctorate in pedagogy at University of Toronto, and taught in several schools on the Prairies before returning to Victoria.

Dr. Thomas was Farmer-Labor candidate for Melville, Saskatchewan.

Canada's Town Meeting Welcomed by Mayor

Mayor Percy George yesterday welcomed Town Meeting in Canada, nationally-known radio forum which records a coast-to-coast broadcast tonight in Victoria High School auditorium.

"I am very happy and appreciative that Town Meeting in Canada has come to the capital city of the province," Mayor George said.

The program has done valuable work in maintaining the democratic ideal of free speech.

BUILDS FRIENDSHIP
"From another point of view, I feel that the visit is very worthwhile publicity for the city. Furthermore, Town Meeting is doing a great deal to build up friendship between cities of Canada."

"I think The Daily Colonist should be complimented on sponsoring this broadcast, and on being the first newspaper to do so."

SWEETHEART CAKE
1 1/2 cup Swiftning
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
5/8 tsp. single acting or 4 tsp. double acting baking powder
4 egg whites
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Preparation: Have all ingredients at room temperature. Preheat oven at 375°F. Line bottoms of two heart-shaped pans (equivalent to two 9" round pans) with waxed paper.

Step 1: Put Swiftning in bowl. Sift in flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add 1/2 cup of the milk, and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes in medium speed electric mixer, or by hand at 150 strokes per minute. Keep batter from sides and bottom of bowl. Scrape bowl and beaters.

Step 2: Add unbeaten egg whites and remaining 1/2 cup milk. Beat 2 more minutes. Scrape bowl and beaters. Pour equal amounts of batter in pans. Bake about 28 minutes, or till done. Cool. Fill and frost with 7-minute icing. Decorate with tinted coconut, and add a gay touch with Fall flowers.

AN INVITATION to Young Executives

The year hundreds of young Canadians will assume the larger responsibilities that go with executive promotion. Not a few will head their own firms. The first time, form partnerships, plan the expansion of existing businesses.

The Royal Bank of Canada welcomes the opportunity of helping these younger business men in bringing their plans to fruition, and of discussing their problems with them at any time.

Your local branch manager invites your enquiries.

Learn to finance longer range. Get information on domestic and foreign loans. Get advice on insurance and investment matters. Have your money in the hands of experienced managers.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA
OVER 200 BRANCHES IN 10 DIFFERENT COUNTRIES

a "standing invitation"

Many of today's top executives were on their way up when they first took advantage of this invitation in 1937. Through the years they have learned the importance of the Bank's services to their operations... the value of full, frank discussion with their Royal Bank Manager.

The invitation stands.

We welcome the opportunity to serve today's young executives—to discuss their problems and to aid in the development of their plans.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

BUNTY TELLS BUSTER

Bunty the orphan rabbit was so surprised at what happened to her, as she was emptying the suds from the washing tub, that all she could say was: "Oh! Oh! Oh!"

You remember that at the end of yesterday's story, I told you how Bunty saw something like a rubber hose reach over her shoulder, suck the soapy water out of the tub and squirt it into Frog Pond.

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" exclaimed Bunty again.

"Don't be afraid, little rabbit girl," bling voice. "I'm only a secret."

Bunty looked from the end of the rubber hose up to where it was fastened to a big head with flapping ears and two long, gleaming tusks or teeth.

"Why—why—you're an ELEPHANT!" gasped Bunty. "Did you escape from Uncle Wiggily's merry-go-round?"

"Oh, no, indeed! was the laughing answer. The elephant on the merry-go-round is made of wood. I'm a real live elephant."

"Where did you come from?" asked Bunty, still very much surprised though not at all frightened.

"That's the secret," answered the elephant, trying to whisper. But, being such a large animal, his whisper was a deep rumble like a train going through a tunnel. "Yes, it's a big secret. I heard you tell Wolfie that you were looking for a secret. Well, I'm your secret, don't you see?"

"It isn't hard to see you, as you're so big," spoke Bunty. "But the secret I want to find is one to give Uncle Wiggily a jolly surprise."

"Maybe I'm that secret. Let me explain," said the elephant. He idea some more soapy water from his trunk into Frog Pond and again put his trunk in the suds.

"First, please tell me where you came from," said Bunty. "I-I-I-I suppose you aren't a dream elephant."

"No, I'm a real elephant," was the answer. "But where I came from is a secret. If I tell you, please promise you won't tell anybody."

"May I tell Buster?" asked Bunty. "Well, yes, you may tell Buster. Now I'll tell you. I'm from the circus that's showing over in the woods."

"But a circus isn't a secret," objected Bunty. "Everybody can see it."

over to the raft and see the secret elephant!"

"Wake up, Bunty! You're dreaming!" said Buster.

"No, I'm not! He's a real elephant! He helped me empty the wash tubs and—Oh, look! Look, Buster! Look what the elephant is doing!"

It was something surprising. I'll tell you about it tomorrow, if the can opener will pretend that the egg beater is a music box and play a tune on it for the canary bird to dance with the gold fish.

native of the Campaign of the British Army in Spain," a work published in 1898.

It was in a letter written by Moore to Lord Castlereagh on the 26th of November, 1808, that the now familiar saying, "the game is up" had its first recorded use, thus:

"Unless I plainly see that the game is up, and response on the part of Spain vain."

1. Say, "that I have ever read."

2. Pronounce chas-tiz, as in at, i as in tie, and accent last syllable not the first. 3. Seecy. 4. Deviation from the common rule.

How It Started

"THE GAME IS UP"

Here is another of those deceptive sayings—one which sounds like the real thing in American slang, but actually has its roots in English literature. In this instance, the source is on a literary level certainly more rarified than the words' usual environment in common speech.

The generalization of the term "game" in allusion to any undertaking—as in "playing the game"—had long been familiar when this slang expression first appeared in print. It is traced to Sir James Carriek Moore, author of "A Nar-

Social and Personal

This morning at 11, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks will receive Hon. Charles Sawyer, the United States Secretary of Commerce, and his party of 20 at Government House. The party will fly from Seattle and be met at Patricia Bay by officials of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Banks will attend the unveiling of the plaque at the Memorial Ice Arena on Sunday afternoon at which time His Honor will place a wreath in memory of the fallen. Aide-de-camp will be Col. M. W. Turner, O.B.E.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Banks will attend a meeting of the B.C. Historical Association to be held in the Provincial Library Tuesday evening when Dr. T. A. Rickard will read a paper on the California Gold Rush.

Honoring Mr. J. S. Proctor, assistant general manager Imperial Bank of Canada, and Mrs. Proctor, of Toronto, and Mr. R. M. Virtue, assistant Western superintendent, and Mrs. Virtue, of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Grubb will entertain at their home this evening when a buffet supper will be served. Saturday evening the visitors will attend a dinner at the Empress Hotel when guests will include senior members of the Victoria branch, Imperial Bank of Canada, with their wives and several retired members and their wives who make their home in Victoria. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Grubb will entertain at a small after-five party at their home, following which Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cameron have invited the honored guests to a buffet supper at their Runnymede Avenue home.

The Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club is holding another of its popular dances on Saturday night, September 24. This one is to be in the form of a harvest party, and farmer and farmettes will be the order of the evening. A piano has been installed, and Bernie Porter's four-piece orchestra will be in attendance.

Wednesday evening, Miss Ruth Poole, a bride-elect of this month, was honored when Mrs. H. Taylor, 551 Alpha Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower. Ruffled pink and pale green streamers fell from the mantelpiece to a hat box filled with pretty gifts. The guest of honor also received a novelty corsage bouquet. The invited guests were Mrs. F. A. Poole, Mrs. T. Wilson, Mrs. J. Poole, Mrs. A. Green, Mrs. E. Sillburn, Mrs. C. McCorquodale, Mrs. L. Taylor, Mrs. F. Ferguson, Mrs. H. Tippet, Mrs. W. Crooks, Mrs. J. Jury, Mrs. M. Shaw, and Misses Margaret Wilson, Peggy Taylor, Shirley Brown and Irene Wilson.

Errington News

St. Mary's Guild met at the home of Mrs. G. Overy recently when plans were made for the Harvest Thanksgiving service to be held on Sunday, October 9.

Mr. Fred West of Victoria was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Connor.

Honoring Miss Doris Seymour, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Seymour, whose marriage to Mr. E. Courcy of Hoquiam, Wash., will take place shortly at the Church of the Little Flower, Quilicum Beach, Mrs. P. Decker entertained about 15 guests recently. Miss Seymour was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts, presented to her in a prettily-decorated basket. Mrs. H. Howland and Miss D. Lewis are spending a few days in Victoria.

Miss G. Lewis, of Great Central Lake, is teaching in the Errington Public School, replacing Mrs. A. Westendorf.

Revisiting friends in this district recently were Mr. and Mrs. V. Lawson, of Powell River, and Mrs. E. Beatty who has been spending the summer on Vancouver Island and expects to return to the Old Country shortly.

Mr. J. B. Phillips, who has just returned from Kimberley, spent the week-end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Phillips, prior to his return to U.B.C. Mr. J. Stewart has also returned to Vancouver to resume his studies at U.B.C. Michael Butler is at present working with a survey party at Bear Creek Camp, near Shawnigan Lake.

Chapter Plans Autumn Activities

At a recent meeting of Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at headquarters, plans were discussed to hold a rummage sale in October and a bridge tea to be held in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, at a later date.

It was decided that $15 of the $197 realized from the garden party held in June be donated to the bursary fund.

Chocolate bars and ice cream were distributed to the patients at the George Nursing Home by Mrs. B. Pritchett, welfare convener.

Mrs. E. G. Gibson Again Heads South V.I. Women's Institutes

Mrs. E. G. Gibson, Shawnigan Lake, was returned by acclamation as president of the South Vancouver Island Women's Institutes, at the annual conference held at Shawnigan on Wednesday. About 150 official and institute delegates were present, representing 21 institutes of the district from Victoria to Cedar. Returned to the board as secretary, also by acclamation, was Mrs. D. J. De Rochie of Sooke. Other members of the board were elected as follows: Mrs. A. Sutherland, South Saanich; Mrs. B. Wallace, Cedar; and Mrs. G. Greenwell, Lake Hill.

LODE to Give Nine Bursaries

Mrs. G. B. Elliott was elected second vice-regent of the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. at the meeting held on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. J. L. Ford presiding.

Rev. E. M. Willis of Cobble Hill opened the conference with prayer, and R. B. Moulton, president of the local Farmers' Institute gave the official welcome, and Mrs. A. Dalnes, president of the Shawnigan Lake Women's Institute, gave greetings replied to by Mrs. A. Davis of Salt Spring Island.

Addresses were given by Mrs. E. Glover of the Provincial W.I. Board; Mrs. B. Gummow, provincial superintendent of Women's Institutes, and by Mrs. W. P. Rankin, Craighill, and Mrs. Maxwell, welfare teacher with the Indian branch of the Department of Mines and Resources, from the Indian Hospital at Nanaimo. Mrs. Rankin and Mrs. Maxwell both spoke on the native Indians in the community and what can be done in a practical way to help them.

MANY RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions were passed disapproving of daylight saving time; asking for a Government program for the eradication of brucellosis, a bovine disease; seeking an amendment to the Lower-Act making it unnecessary for a wife to register her claim to prevent her husband from selling her home without her consent; asking legislation for adequate rural garbage disposal; and asking that the $6 a day now allowed for hospitalization under hospital insurance be available for the care at home of those aged people or pensioners who need care which could be administered out of hospital.

Interesting reports were read from each institute and displays of handwork from Lake Hill, Soanenos, Royal Oak, Cowichan, Craigflower, and South Saanich lined the walls. A display of handcraft from institutes of British Columbia and a display from Herefordshire, England, were shown by Mrs. Gummow; and an interesting display of Soanenos work and splints drew much interest. Appreciation was voiced to Miss L. Savory of Langford for the beautiful flowers which graced the hall, and to the Shawnigan Lake and Cobble Hill Institute who provided lunch and tea.

Auxiliary Marks 16th Year

The Ladies Auxiliary, Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., celebrated the 16th anniversary of their charter recently at a birthday social held in the auditorium on Blanchard Street. Sister auxiliaries and the branch executive were invited, about 300 comrades and friends being present.

Salt Spring W. A. To Send Parcels

Following the summer vacation, the Women's Auxiliary to the Salt Spring Island branch of the Canadian Legion met recently at Harbor House, Mrs. J. B. Acland in the chair and 20 members present.

Mrs. J. B. Cafo was initiated as a new member.

A letter read from Mrs. Cecil Springford, past president of the organization, congratulated the members on the success of the Kermess held in August and urged them to keep in mind the welfare of the veterans and their dependents of the Great War and World War.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $1,112.61. Each convener gave a respective report of the Kermess and a vote of thanks was passed to the general convener, Mrs. Harold Sjoquist. It was agreed to purchase a $500 bond to be earmarked for the proposed hall.

The members voted $25 to be sent quarterly to Provincial Command Fund, for food parcels for England. It was also decided to send $10 to Mrs. L. Parham for her layette fund. The next meeting will be held at Harbor House on October 1.

The Hard of Hearing Hall on November 10.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Whittington, 707 Linden Avenue, on October 21.

Clinical tests show amazing results! 4 out of 5 helped to softer, smoother, lovelier skin

• If your skin ever gets rough or dry, if unattractive blemishes ever mar its loveliness... here's some real news for you.

A noted skin specialist has developed a new home beauty routine. It has been clinically tested with some truly remarkable results.

New 4-Step Treatment

181 women took part in this test supervised by 3 skin specialists. One cream was used—Noxzema Medicated Skin Cream. Here is the simple 4-step daily routine each of these women followed for 2 weeks.

1. Morning—bathe face with warm water—cream-wash your face with Noxzema on a wet cloth.
2. Apply Noxzema as a powder base.
3. Evening—before retiring, repeat morning cream-wash cleansing.
4. Massage face lightly with Noxzema, pat on extra Noxzema over any blemishes.

At 7-day intervals each woman's skin was examined. After 1 week, the vast majority showed remarkable improvement. At the end of the test, results were truly astonishing.

Here's What Happened!

Actually, 4 out of 5 showed softer, smoother, lovelier skin in 2 weeks. Yes, 4 out of 5 women were thrilled at the marked improvement Noxzema helped bring to their skin.

Start using this new idea in beauty care. No greasy creams to tissue off, no expensive foundations. Noxzema is a dainty, greaseless medicated formula designed to help heal blemishes, help smooth and soften rough, dry skin.

Special Offer

Try it yourself! See how quickly your skin responds. Now's the best time, too—your once-a-year opportunity to get Noxzema at a special money-saving price. While this Anniversary Offer lasts, you can get the big 6-ounce 93¢ jar of Noxzema for only 79¢—at all drug and cosmetic counters.

Hope to Solve Problem Of Speeders

A newly formed association, known as the Vancouver Island Roadster Association, believes it can solve the problem of the fast and the furious.

Patterned after similar organizations in the United States, the association plans to do away with "speed kid" driving by offering one-on-one racing.

YOU THERE, LUGG!

Members of the association will be given the opportunity to race their own cars on a closed course.

On the Island, they note, their attempts to see how fast they can go often result in accidents.

The association plans to give the members a chance to race their own cars on a closed course.

WILL BE PENALTIES

Any member found violating traffic laws will be penalized by the association and suspended from racing.

The association will also give members the opportunity to race their own cars on a closed course.

Association officials say members will be expected to wear seat belts, and that they must be properly licensed.

Here are the specifications:

1. Cars must have sizes of standard.

2. Ninety inches or more wheelbase.

3. Two comfortable seats.

4. Two doors.

5. Properly licensed driver.

It's Fashion Week at EATON'S

A Fantasy Impromptu... The Daytime Look

Quietly composed, the Daytime Look depends upon sure lines, deep colors and beautiful fabric for its fashion authority. There is a nice newness to the application of velvets on wool, the crispness of worsted, the texture of knits. Broadcloth and deep-pile coatings lose their Edwardian primness in a more casual silhouette. The Daytime Look demands its own mode of dressing, its own accompaniment of accessories... quiet, trim clothes typical of the wide and varied collection for the daytime hours to be found throughout our Fashion Floors.

A—Our Iron-Free Nylon Blouses—A pretty new... our pretty feminine nylon blouses, wash in a twinkling and never need ironing... a boon to busy Collegians and business girls. ## This Was Popular Spot for Dodgers

Brooklyn Dodgers saw third base often as St. Louis Cardinals cracked wide open in final game of crucial series at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis. Dodgers took game 19-6, to cut Redbird lead to slim half game. Spider Jorgensen, Dodger third sacker, is shown sliding safely into third base on Duke Snider's first-inning single as Brooks jumped into three-run lead. Cardinal Third Baseman Tommy Glaviano (12) attempts putout too late. Umpire is Jocko Conlan.

The Sport Grill

by PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—There are several nations which would have no financial worries if they could export their same annual football bill.

That's a team to stagger the imagination of sports except an astronomer or international banker. A $100 million bill.

NOT UNBELIEVABLE

But that amount doesn't seem as impossible when you begin to think of it. For example, please consider the cost of a single football game. The average training camp, equipment, travel, and food for a team of 25 players and coaches, plus the cost of the stadium, is about $100,000.

That's for one game. A team plays 12 games a season. That's $1,200,000. Now multiply that by 10 teams. That's $12,000,000. Now multiply that by 10 years. That's $120,000,000.

IT'S EXPENSIVE

But that's not all. There's the cost of the players' salaries. The average player gets $10,000 a year. That's $250,000 a year for 25 players. That's $2,500,000 a year for 10 teams. That's $25,000,000 a year for 10 years.

MAN, BIG COLLEGES HAVE AT LEAST

ten coaches, some of them well paid, and at least two assistant coaches. That's $100,000 a year for 10 teams. That's $1,000,000 a year for 10 years.

Longshot Redeems Self to Win Eighth Race After Poor Season

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22 (AP)—Postcardrunner, four-year-old chestnut gelding, who has run some disappointing races this season, made up for his past today at Exhibition Park when he touched the wire a head in front of the field to win the eighth race and post the largest mutual return of the day.

With Jockey Kenny Coppersmith aboard, the 23-1 shot trained the horse to a victory in the eighth race, running ninth and tenth in a ten-horse field for the first half. The winner paid $64.70, $12.10 and $8.90.

Earlier, in the sixth, another longshot, Larkspur, making his second start here, kept on moving up in the stretch to win by a length and return $64.30, $12.10 and $8.90.

Sport Roundup

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—Since he took over Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, Jim Hendy has made so many trades they're calling him "The David Harum of Hockey" . . . but Jim still says Harum is just something he needs more of on his head.

Starting the 1948 football season, Coach Blair Cherry decked out his University of Texas football players in flashy white nylon pants. . . . North Carolina promptly beat some of them. . . . When it happened again in the Oklahoma game, the Longhorns discarded the new garb and finished out a successful season.

The Texas brought out the right again to start the 1949 season against Texas Tech. In the second quarter, Bob Dyer, left end, made a grab for him and found him so tight that he couldn't get him out.

English Baseball Makes Gains; Enthusiasm High, Strategy Odd

TORONTO, Sept. 22 (AP)—English baseball players may not show a terrific amount of diamond know-how, but they make up for it by their enthusiasm.

That's the word from John Leslie, "Bud" Wild, instructor in journalism at the University of Western Ontario, who has just returned from a trip to England.

Wild's general impression of British baseball ability: "The British play baseball about as well as we play cricket."

Wild was particularly impressed by British baseball strategy. The score was 9-1 with the home team winning in the last of the ninth.

Wild decided something drastic had to be done. His first batter got a single and went to second and third while the opposition booted the ball around. There was only one out by the time the runner got to third but this did not deter the desperate Wild. He called for a squeeze. It worked, and the runner scampered home with the team's third run.

The next man was out and the game was over.

The big-eyed Wild braced himself and walked over to the players' bench, determined to find out what had prompted the coach to call for a squeeze play when the team was trailing by seven runs.

"Well old chap," the glowing manager said, "I thought it was much more sporting to lose by 8-3 than 9-2."

MOORE JAWNS, Sept. 21 (AP)—A confused game which got out of hand as the home team took a 9-1 lead in the ninth inning, but had lost it when the home team's pitcher, Charles Clemenshaw, who saw the charging animal, drove his automobile in the path of the yak and stopped it.

CHAPTER XVII

In spite of the darkness, the headlights picked up the lush vegetation and scattered buildings to a remarkable degree; then the levee came briefly into view, beyond the wide lawns of drying and open meadows where cattle were grazing. Just beyond the second small town through which Sabin Duplessis and Ruth Avery had come, the road seemed to run into the levee; then it turned to one side, and still clinging to the sloping green bank beside it, went on and on, so close that the two seemed to remain part of each other.

"YOUR SLIP IS SHOWING"

A LADY I know... has been getting around, and has just returned from Puget Sound. She collapsed in our store, she said, and did amuse; "where," she said, "is your set in shar-treus?" (This is the suite about which we did bellow), I think we called it a cowardly yellow. "It's over this way... come, take a peek," she said, and she showed her tired physique. "THAT THING?" she said, as she said, she straightened her hose, & collapsed again... & turned up her nose. "Well, you never know... some loveless fellow might come in... and call a yellow." She rubbed the material, continued to prattle. "The it's just like those they sell in Seattle. From a lotta color... they do not shrink. I saw men's shirts in mauve and pink. Then another story she went on to tell, & laughed at herself... & what befell. As back to Victoria... she followed the birds, the following are... her very own words: "I got on the boat, but a magazine, read a short story... I thought rather keen. To the coffee shop... I then wended my way, it so helps to pass... the time away. I praised the others... with a sweeping look, while I further leafed... thru the Red Book. I was sipping my coffee, when out ONE eye, I could tell the newcomer... was quite a guy. Easy to see... around he had been, his shirt was cocoa... his suit gabardine. In the doorway... he casually stood, his waves rather long... & brushed Hollywood. He draped himself... quite close to me. "How is the java?"... his opening plea. Then he flipped a Camel... out his pack. I tried to slightly... turn my back. "Got a match?" he queried, his pater to nurse. I fumbled inside... my new red purse. "Thanks," he continued, "yes... coffee, please, please. Rather nice ship... & coffee bar, you gotta hand it," he said... in the C.P.R. "Yes... it is, & all quite new," then out there... I FAIRLY FLEW. To the purser's office to get a stateroom, where I red... till nearly noon. I smiled to myself... a rather nice feel, I hadn't completely... lost all appeal. Yes... an easy way, I wondered WHAT ELSE... he would have had to say. Well... WE'VE got an awful lot to say, a NEW bedroom suite came in today.

Wise, Sabin waited for Ruth to voice her impressions without questioning her about them.

"You were right, Sabin," she said. "I do get the feel of it. I even get the feel of the river I can't see I wonder why no one ever told me before how marvelous all this would be."

"I've often wondered myself why some smart man about it & a song been written that does justice to O' Man River. But no one's done justice to Lady Levee yet, as far as I know, in either song or story."

"Why, Sabin, you could write that song yourself! Why don't you?"

"What's the use? I haven't any incentive."

"For the first time he spoke jerkily, almost angrily, and at the same moment he put his foot on the accelerator. Something white loomed up and Ruth saw the sign of the Bar-None ranch. Still driving rapidly Sabin took the lane leading through the gate, and brought the car to an abrupt stop beside the flagged terrace of a long, low building. Instantly the front door opened, and a man of genial countenance and immense girth came forward to greet them. Sabin advanced, holding out his hand.

"Good evening, Mr. Davis. This time I've brought the loveliest lady of them all to Bar-None—Miss Ruth Avery."

"We're mighty glad to have you here, Miss Avery. And to see you again, Mr. Duplessis."

"The next few moments were devoled to an exchange of pessimistic views on national and international affairs; but eventually Mr. Davis led them inside.

"Your table is yonder by the window, Mr. Duplessis," a white-jacketed waiter informed him, nodding toward a pleasant corner.

"Hiyah, Sabin, yold puddle jumper. How's for a drink before you go off into the wild blue yonder?"

Sabin whirled toward the solitary bar patron, who grinned at him.

"Dutch! Dutch Schaefer!" Sabin shouted jubilantly. "Ruth, this is an old army buddy of mine, Dutch, Miss Ruth Avery. Boy, am I glad to see you again! Why, I haven't laid eyes on you since we must be more than two years now."

"In two years, did you say, my fine bucko?" asked Schaefer wryly. "Am I supposed to see you on that, Fly Boy?"

"But it has been at least that long, hasn't it?"

"If you say so," Schaefer replied non-committally.

"Look, Dutch, I don't get this," protested Sabin with a touch of irritation. "If I've forgotten where it was we met, I apologize, and all that. But it doesn't call for the kind of act you're putting on now. Where was it then?"

"You mean it?" asked Dutch doubtfully.

"Certainly, I mean it."

"Well, I knew you were teed up, but I didn't think it was one of these washout binges," Schaefer observed, taking off his dark glasses, and pointing to the confusion which disgraced his left eye. "You're the guy who hung this shiner on me, if you want the straight of it. Last Saturday night, in the Diamond Horseshoe. Tell me for true, now."

"We're mighty glad to have you here, Miss Avery. And to see you again, Mr. Duplessis."

You don't remember that we spent most of last Saturday night together?"

Involuntarily, Sabin shot a startled glance at Ruth. She met his eyes with complete composure. "Suppose I disappear for a while, and let you two talk this over," she said. "After all, it doesn't concern me, and..."

"Please, Ruth! I'd much rather you'd stay, if you'll be good enough."

They threaded their way among the tables and Sabin murmured, "Ruth, if ever this miserable affair is settled, I'll make it up to you—the embarrassment I'm causing you, I mean."

"Embarrassment? Why, I'm sure lots of girls who would get the thrill of their lives out of it."

Sabin turned impatiently to Schaefer, after they were seated. "Well, what are we waiting for? Contact!"

"Beginning where?"

"You're the one that knows about it, I don't."

"Well, I'm coming in on Canal Street when I bump into you," he said. "It was right at Chartres Street, and we had us a quick reunion. You knew me all right, and when I suggested going any place where they'd serve us some drinking whisky, and having a celebration, you were right there with the big 'yes'."

"What I want to know is: did we do anything outside of drink, or did I tell you anything about what I'd been doing earlier that evening?"

West opened the top card of his partner's diamond suit, and East's ten was taken by South with the ace.

With a losing diamond and a possible heart loser in his own hand, South apparently could see only one chance for his contract—the heart finesse. So he drew trumps and took that finesse. East won with the heart king, and his prompt cashing of the diamond king wrote finis to the affair.

In view of East's two-diamond overall, the position of the heart king was by no means a 50-50 proposition—indeed, with that card, East's bid was questionable! Without the heart king it was almost unthinkable! Thus, taking the heart finesse should have been anything but attractive to South! The infinitely better plan was to manoeuvre for an end-play against East. To that purpose, South should have run off every one of his trumps and his two club tricks. This would reduce all hands to three cards each—and what could East hold? Dummy would have the diamond jack and the ace-queen of hearts. East would certainly have to keep a high diamond over dummy's jack, and also would be obliged to hold the guarded king of hearts. It would then be childishly simple for declarer to play a diamond, throwing East in and forcing a heart return up to the tenace in dummy.

If East, foreseeing this end-play, tried to escape by keeping two diamonds and throwing away his heart jack, it would not be any great feat for South to read the situation and counter by cashing the heart ace, dropping the blank king.

Three Months at Hard Labor Meted Out in Saanich Court

Percy Joseph Bernard, Gordon Head Camp, was sentenced to three months at hard labor when he appeared in Saanich police court yesterday on a charge of beating his wife.

Bernard pleaded guilty to the charge when he appeared in court last week. He was remanded until yesterday for sentence.

Manuel Cooper, West Saanich Indian Reserve, was fined $30 or five days at the same rate for a charge of careless driving.

Crown Prosecutor C. L. Harrison told the court that Cooper failed to stop at a stop sign while driving along Grange Road on September 14.

To Repeat Popular "Y" Drama

Popularity of Betty Brydon Beecher's "Indian Summer," directed by Polish dramatist Julius Rawicz-Lesak, has made necessary an additional presentation.

The Mural Room of the Y.M.C.A. was filled to capacity last night and many were turned away from the drama, which has an interesting psychological theme.

The unemployed cast is composed of students, including Betty Brydon, Grosse, Igna Rawicz-Lesak and Larry Westwood.

The play is staged as a pasthouse production enacted on floor level, within reach of the audience.

The final presentation, unless otherwise announced, will be given at 8 o'clock tonight.

In addition, there will be a display of folk dancing beginning at 8 p.m., in the gymnasium. The audience, following the play, is invited to join in the dances.

A full program has been set for the distinguished visiting party, which will be met at the airport by officials of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. An official welcome will be extended by local Chamber President Walter S. Miles and other officials.

Home Scheme Welcomed By City Mayor

The announcement by the Federal Government that it planned to cut down payments on National Housing Act homes and introduce a Dominion-Provincial house construction scheme was welcomed yesterday by Mayor George.

"It will make it considerably easier for returning veterans and others to acquire a dream house, or the house of their desire," stated the mayor.

He said the new program should have the effect of stimulating the construction industry throughout Canada which is particularly important to British Columbia as a major lumber producer.

Unlike wartime housing schemes introduced in the past, Mayor George said the new plan should encourage private ownership of homes.

Union in Fact, Not Name, Never Strikes, Threatens

The 64-year-old president of a nation-wide union which never has a strike reached Victoria yesterday to start a week's visit on Vancouver Island.

He is Fred Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada and secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Postal Employees' Association, who in 1937 was elected to leadership of 60,000 civil servants. After 22 years in Toronto Post Office, he was appointed full-time secretary-treasurer of the Postal Employees' Association in 1941.

E. G. Rowebottom and others will attend as representatives of the Provincial Government.

SPEAKS AT NOON

Mr. Sawyer and his party will visit Government House almost immediately after their arrival here, and at noon, at the Empress Hotel, the Commerce Secretary will be guest speaker at a joint luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and Victoria Lions Club.

Before returning to Seattle at 4 p.m., the visiting party will confer with various Provincial Government officials at the Legislative Buildings.

To Take Part In Dedication

A detachment of the 5th (B.C.) Regiment, R.C.A., will take part in the dedication ceremonies at the Memorial Arena, it was announced yesterday by Lt.-Col. G. F. Paulin, E.D., officer commanding.

The detachment, 35 strong, will be commanded by Capt. Brent Murdoch. Members who wish to take part in the program are asked to communicate with headquarters immediately.

COURSE FILLED

Personnel administration course of the Victoria College Evening Division is already filled to capacity, evening director, Prof. K. T. Wallace, said yesterday.

Facilities at the college cannot handle more than the 30 students already enrolled, he said.

Meanwhile, registration for other courses may still be made by letter to the college registrar. Among other courses are British Columbia history, given by Willard Izland, Provincial archivist; art, given by W. P. Weston, and orchestral music given by Hans Gruber.

Registration for other courses taken for college credit were made in person last night.

has come to Victoria from the Yukon, via Vancouver.
Yesterday postal employees held a luncheon for him in Hotel Strathcona. Last night he was guest of honor at a postal employees' meeting, dinner and party in Boiler-maker's Hall, Esquimalt. Today he will attend a dinner given by the States and Canada, October 24 to 27.

Behind the Sale SERVICE!

Musical instrument, radio or electric appliance, whatever you purchase at Fletcher's, the sale is backed by a pledge of service. To back this pledge we maintain a complete service and repair department, staffed by trained experts, working in fully equipped shops. Piano to washer, radio to guitar, each has a specialist to give you the service that is your right, to offer repair and maintenance on any make or type.

Mental Hygiene Consultant Named in Area

Formerly a member of the teaching staff of the Greater Victoria school system, Miss Edna Lawrence has been re-appointed as a permanent mental hygiene consultant to work with teachers and civic agencies.

Miss Lawrence was given leave of absence last year to attend the University of Toronto on scholarships. She enrolled in courses covering the field of mental hygiene.

Since assuming her duties earlier this month as mental hygiene consultant for Greater Victoria schools, Miss Lawrence has visited principals and conferred with officials of such agencies as the Family Welfare Department, at the City Hall, Child Guidance Clinic and the Health Department.

She will work in co-operation with the local organizations to help cure mental ills of school children.

Thinking Ahead

Notice is or not, though it is only September a Candy Shop has to do some serious thinking ahead about this time every year on requirements for Christmas.

There are boxes to order so they will be made and ready to ship and paper supplies along with numerous other things so as there will be no delay in getting that particular box of candy ready for the festive season when that time comes.

Impey Named To C.P.R. Post

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22.—H. Ross Impey, of Edmonton, has been named to the new post of fuel purchasing agent for the C.P.R.'s Prairie and Pacific regions by H. H. Enman, general fuel agent here. Mr. Impey, who has been purchasing agent at Edmonton for the past six years, will make his headquarters in Winnipeg.

Succeeding him at Edmonton will be P. G. Glendenning, of Calgary, who returned to the Calgary purchasing office in 1946 from wartime loan to the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Both appointments are effective October 1.

PAIGNTON, Devonshire, England (CP)—Zoo officials here constructed an open-air swimming pool to house two giant turtles recently acquired.

Daily Astrology

By RITA DEL MAR

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1949

Today's quotation: "We reverence tradition, but we will not be fettered by it."—Dean Inge.

Friday for Everyone—Proceed with ordinary matters, exerting discretion, foresight, and courtesy to avoid causing hurt feelings. Defer passing on new propositions until tomorrow, which is a favorable day.

Look for your birth date and birth sign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Let others know plainly where you stand; clear away possible misapprehensions.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Veer away from situations that could throw your working schedule or health out of gear.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Don't take chances re long-term projects or objectives; keep your savings intact.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Don't "borrow trouble"; steer clear of complications in household, office.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Defer judgment when uncertain. Hold off until late evening, when decisions come more readily.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Protect your interests re money, belongings, values. Be guided strictly by facts.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Be as self-reliant as possible today. Defer action if issues are unclear.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Put a safe distance between yourself and those who might draw you into plots, tangles.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Make "caution" your motto today in matters affecting funds or congenial ties. Play safe.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—

Display tact, self-control, where commercial interests or your prestige are at stake.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Subject your ideas, plans, to some mental review; bring them into line if they seem unrealistic.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Neither a borrower nor a lender be. Keep monetary records "up to the minute."

Planning Ahead—Good for sociability, entertaining, etc.: September 24, 25, 26, 27; evening of 29, 30; October 1 and 3; evening of 12; afternoon of 15.
